

COUNTY OF SAN DIEGO FIRESTORM RECONSTRUCTION 2003

To support the County reconstruction efforts after the recent firestorm, the County of San Diego has an immediate need to fill the following positions:

Land Use Aide

($26,978 - $32,802 per annum)

Assists in processing routine applications requiring land use interpretation.

Junior Engineer

($44,886 - $54,558 per annum)

Assists in performing and coordinating professional civil and structural engineering work in the field and office.

Building Inspector I and II

($42,286-$55,266 per annum)

Inspects residential, commercial, and industrial buildings for conformance with building construction, zoning and grading codes.

Chief Electrical and Mechanical Inspector

($48,610 - $59,093 per annum)

Serve as technical expert on all matters related to the electrical, mechanical, and plumbing codes and trains the inspection staff in the techniques of inspection.

Assistant and Associate Structural Engineer

($51,875-$74,235 per annum)

Performs structural engineering work examinations and checks building plans and specifications for compliance with California Building Codes, state laws, County ordinances, and regulations.

Fire Code Specialist I and II

($42,744-$59,093 per annum)

Interprets and enforces of the County Fire Code, reviews and coordinates plans and specifications with respect to fire standards and fire protection features.

Plans Examiner

($48,609-$59,093 per annum)

Reviews building permit applications and construction plans; checks plans for conformity to building codes and ordinances.

Interested candidates may fax resume and cover letter to (619) 685-2458, or e-mail to: Hugo.Martinez@sdcounty.ca.gov. Note the position(s) that you are interested in on your cover letter.

See the County of San Diego website for more information and minimum qualifications:
<http://www.sdcounty.ca.gov/hr/index.html>.